Star-Spangled Banner

*O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?*

History of the Northfield Area Veterans Memorial

The Northfield Area Veterans Memorial stands as a tribute not only to the veterans it honors, but also to the years of dedicated effort on the part of the volunteer leaders, committee members and others who have worked tirelessly to make the Memorial a reality.

The idea of a Veterans Memorial recognizing the sacrifices and service of the men and women of the greater Northfield community had been a dream of many Northfield veterans for years. In November 1998, the local posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion voted to approve the concept of establishing a Memorial. A Veterans Park Committee was formed to develop a plan and enlist community support. By May 1999, the committee was ready to formally request the involvement of the City of Northfield, which responded with a resolution in December 1999, establishing the Veterans Memorial Trust Fund for the sole purpose of accumulating and investing contributions to support the project.

In February 2000, the committee met with the Northfield Park and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB) to begin the long process of dedicating city park land to the Memorial project. Over the next two years, the committee engaged designer Jeff Anderson, and worked with the PRAB to identify a site for the Memorial on the west side of the Cannon River. By late 2003, however, Riverside Lions Park was identified as an alternative site. With the support of the Northfield Lions Club, a request was made to the PRAB and eventually to the City Council to officially designate a portion of the park to the Northfield Area Veterans Memorial.

In October 2003 an effort was launched to solicit contributions to support individually engraved paving stones honoring veterans from the Revolutionary War to the present from any branch of the military. The initial response to the paving stone purchase program was very successful. By the end of October 2005, more than 850 paving stones had been purchased. Based on the success of the paving stone purchase program, community fund-raising began in earnest. Members of the planning committee solicited contributions from area businesses and service clubs, as well as individual donors.

The Memorial was designed as a living tribute, with additional space for paving stones honoring any veteran of the United States military.

While the fund-raising effort was under way, work on the Memorial design continued. The general site plan and a detailed presentation of the elements of the Memorial were completed in early 2005, and construction began with a groundbreaking ceremony on Memorial Day, May 30, 2005. There are plans to add additional components to the Memorial as the funds become available.

Chronology of the Major U.S. Wars and Conflicts

The history of military actions by the armed forces of the United States of America shows hundreds of instances of involvement both abroad and within the continental limits of the United States and its territories. These wars and conflicts have always meant sacrifice for the military servicemen and -women put in harm's way. Those of us who enjoy the benefits and whose freedoms are secured because of these actions are grateful.

American Revolutionary War: 1775–1783

The American Revolutionary War marked the separation of thirteen British colonies from their parent country, Great Britain. The conflict resulted in the establishment of the United States of America, which the British formally recognized in the Treaty of Paris in 1783.

War of 1812: 1812–1815

The War of 1812 was a conflict fought on land in North America and at sea around the world between the United States and the United Kingdom from 1812 to 1815. Much of the fighting took place on land that is now part of Canada, although British invasions of United States territory included the burning of Washington, DC. The Treaty of Ghent (ratified in 1815) restored the status quo ante bellum between the combatants.

United States Civil War: 1861–1865

The United States Civil War divided the nation into two distinct sides: the Union, made up of 23 (mostly northern) states, and the Confederate States of America, which consisted of 11 southern states. At the heart of this war were two competing visions of the state and federal roles in making and enforcing a variety of social and economic policies. More Americans died in this war than any other.

Spanish-American War: 1898

The Spanish-American War was fought in a number of theaters including Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, and ended with the United States establishing territories and protectorates in the Caribbean and the Pacific.

World War I: 1914–1918

World War I, also known as the Great War, changed the map of Europe dramatically, shattering the German, Austro-Hungarian, Ottoman and Russian empires. The United States was drawn into the war in 1917, sending nearly 4.5 million troops, more than 360,000 of whom were killed, wounded or missing in action.

World War II: 1941–1945

World War II burst into flame from the smoldering fire of the Treaty of Versailles that officially ended the first World War. Fueling the fire was the rise of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist German Workers Party. Following the surprise assault on the naval base at Pearl Harbor, the United States formally entered the war in 1941 and led the Allied forces until achieving victory against the Germans in May 1945 and the Japanese in August 1945.

Korean War: 1950–1953

The Korean War was a conflict between North Korea and South Korea that took place during the Cold War era. During this time, the United States, along with Canada, Australia and the United Kingdom, supported South Korea.

Vietnam War: 1964–1973

Like the Korean War, the Vietnam War was an expression of Cold War tensions. The conflict engaged the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (DRVN, or North Vietnam), allied with the National Liberation Front (NLF, or “Viet Cong”), against the Republic of Vietnam (RVN, or South Vietnam) and its allies. The United States military committed American combat troops from 1965 to 1972.

Persian Gulf War: 1991

The Persian Gulf War, sometimes known as Operation Desert Storm, was a conflict between Iraq and a coalition force of 34 nations mandated by the United Nations and led by the United States.

Iraq War: 2003–

The Iraq War is a conflict between the Iraqi military of Saddam Hussein and a coalition of multinational forces led by the United States and the United Kingdom. Following the fall of Hussein, the conflict has continued with the emergence of a wide range of insurgent groups opposed to coalition forces.

Branches of Military Service of the United States

The Northfield Area Veterans Memorial honors veterans who served in any of the six major branches of the United States military. Six large granite tablets highlighting the official seals pay tribute to the unique history and special responsibilities of each branch.

United States Army

Established by the Continental Congress in 1775, the United States Army's mission is to fight and win our nation's wars by providing prompt, sustained land dominance across the full range of military operations and spectrum of conflicts in support of combatant commanders.

United States Navy

The United States Navy traces its origins to the Continental Navy, which the Continental Congress established during the American Revolutionary War. The United States Constitution, ratified in 1789, empowered Congress "to provide and maintain a navy," which today consists of nearly 300 ships and over 4,000 aircraft. It has over a half million men and women on active or ready reserve duty.

United States Marine Corps

The first Marines were commissioned by the Continental Congress in 1775, and were charged with acting as the landing force in advance of the naval fleet. Serving on land, at sea and in the air, Marines have acted with valor in virtually every major military action in our nation's history.

United States Air Force

From its origin in 1907 as the Aeronautical Division of the U.S. Army Signal Corps, to its formal establishment as an independent military branch, the United States Air Force's mission is to defend the United States and protect its interests through air and space power.

United States Coast Guard

The United States Coast Guard, established in 1790, is a military, multi-mission, maritime service. Its mission is to protect the public, the environment, and U.S. economic and security interests in any maritime region in which those interests may be at risk, including international waters and America's coasts, ports and inland waterways.

United States Merchant Marine

The United States Merchant Marine traces its history to 1775, and is comprised of a fleet of ships used to transport both imports and exports. This civilian, commercial fleet serves as an auxiliary to the United States Navy during times of war, when its mariners are considered military personnel and are tasked with delivering both troops and supplies.

Elements of the Memorial

The Northfield Area Veterans Memorial was designed by Jeff Anderson of Anderson Memorials, Inc. in Austin, Minnesota. The design places a series of symbolic elements around a central plaza. Two long, perpendicular walkways, connected by arching interior walkways, are lined with engraved paving stones honoring individual veterans from all branches of the United States military, and from many of the wars and conflicts of American military history.

The elements of the monument include three graceful spires representing three stages of American military history: the effort to gain our own freedom; the struggle to maintain our national unity and the freedom of all citizens; and the effort to defend and protect the freedom of others. At 21 feet, the tallest spire symbolizes the 21-Gun-Salute, an honor accorded to Presidents, military leaders, foreign dignitaries and fallen soldiers.

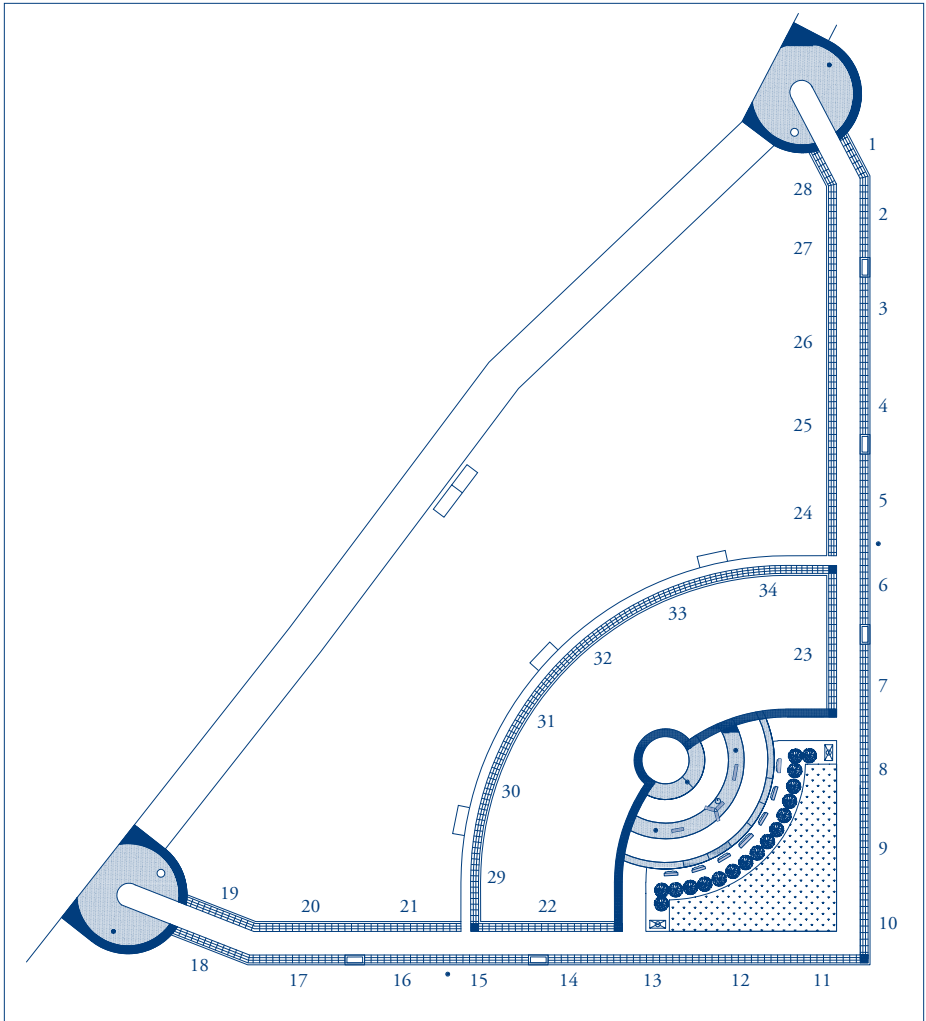

A mounted bell is a call to order — a reminder of the willingness of those who serve in the United States military to step forward into harm's way when the nation calls. The tolling bell is also a call to commemorate a special event or to signify a special honor. Its chime reminds us of the sacrifices we honor with this memorial.

The bell mounted in the spires of the Northfield Area Veterans Memorial has a rich Northfield history. First used in the Southern steam locomotive line that ran from Minneapolis to Northfield, it was donated for use in the Peace Garden attached to the Schilling Museum. When the museum closed, it was acquired by the Machacek family and donated to the memorial in memory of World War II veteran, Marilyn Christie Machacek.

Six vertical stone tablets pay tribute to each of the six branches of the United States military: United States Army, United States Navy, United States Marine Corps, United States Air Force, United States Coast Guard and United States Merchant Marine.

Stone tablets also provide a Wall of Honor memorializing men and women who have given their lives during war time, recognizing the suffering and sacrifice of men and women who were prisoners of war or who are missing in action, and listing the major wars and conflicts in which the United States has engaged. A statue of a soldier, marching home from war, gazes straight ahead, haunted by memories of war. Greeting him are five flags: the flags of the United States of America, the State of Minnesota, POWs/MIAs, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The paved walkways, spires, standing tablets, flags and statue are set in a large, grassy knoll in Riverside Lions Park in Northfield.

Site plan highlighting the section numbers of the engraved memorial paving stones.

Wall of Honor

Over its 150-year history, Northfield has lost 113 of its own in times of war. These brave veterans have answered their nation's call and made the ultimate sacrifice. We respect their courage, salute their service and honor their memory.

Veterans of the Odd Fellows Home

The Odd Fellows Home was located on the west side of Northfield, on the site now occupied by the Three Links Care Center campus. Built in 1899 on the farm of Josiah Nutting, the Odd Fellows Home housed children and elderly. Between 1901, when the first child arrived, and 1956, when the last child left, more than 500 children lived at the home. Over the years, many of the Odd Fellows orphans answered the call to military service. We apologize that for some, the records of their military service are incomplete. As a community, we are pleased to honor these young men and women whom we embrace as our own.
